

APOLOGIES

Numerous readers let us know that in the last issue of Forest History Today we made a mistake. There was an inaccurate caption tagged to the lead photograph of the Collins Almanor Forest article on page 35. Unfortunately the caption was mixed up with a caption from a similar photograph that was not used.

Indeed, the timber cruiser was leaning on an incense cedar and not a sugar pine as the caption indicated. It is gratifying to know that so many of you are reading the magazine in detail and care enough to write. Both photographs are printed here for your viewing pleasure. Please keep the comments coming.
